Frigate Hartford and a Return From China by the Frigate Niagara to Aden and Thence Via the Red Sea and Europe to the United States We left Nagasaki this morning at eight o'clock, and have been running all day under sail and steam, having made, say, one hundred miles. We go this way because no ship of war has yet been through; also, because there are one or two important cities to see, and perhaps touch at, on the way; and also, because tis said to excel in the beauty of its scenery, any other.
